

TORSO CASE STILL REMAINS MYSTERY

Authorities Act on Theory That the Victim Was Sarah Meader.

SALESMAN SOUGHT AS GIRL'S FRIEND

Barge Engineer Tells Story of Dishevelled Man Loitering by the River.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 21.—Schenectady County authorities will proceed tomorrow on the theory that Miss Sarah Meader, of Quaker Springs, Saratoga County, was the girl whose mutilated torso was found on Friday just below here in the Mohawk River wrapped in a skirt, part of an undershirt and two pieces of oilcloth.

Miss Meader is the only one of half a dozen young women reported missing whose absence has not been explained as a result of police investigation.

Miss Meader's uncle, Thomas McDowell, of Schenectady, who first notified the police of the young woman's disappearance, went to her home to-day and late to-night is said to have telephoned to Schenectady that she has not been home since May 25, when she was last seen by Mr. McDowell and his wife. On the night of her disappearance she went to Albany with William Cantrow, a salesman traveling for a stove concern. Cantrow has been inquiring for her since then, and the police want to get his story of what occurred that night.

It was reported that Miss Meader was taken ill while in Albany. She and Cantrow went to a restaurant for dinner, he told the girl's uncle the next night. Having to take a train for Glens Falls, Cantrow said he left Miss Meader to take a car for Schenectady alone. Cantrow was in Burlington, Vt., on Saturday, and it is expected that he can be located from the hotel where he stopped while in that city.

A new clue was given to the authorities to-day. Joseph Foley, a barge canal engineer, told the police that a stranger of dishevelled appearance was seen on the night of May 30 loitering on the bank of the Mohawk near Shear's Quarry, a mile below the spot where the girl's torso was found. Foley, a visiting engineer and two or three other men were walking along on the bank when they noticed the man in the bushes. He did not have a hat, his shirt was torn open in front and he appeared excited.

Foley and the others went along, and thought no more of the occurrence until they read of the finding of the body.

The authorities to-day got no nearer a solution of the mystery. Men dragged the river in a motor boat and a rowboat without picking up anything. Hopes of solving the mystery are pinned on the possibility of finding the head of the slain woman, so that she may be ## IDENTIFIED. The hunt for a piece of concrete containing trap rock similar to that in the concrete used to weight down the bundle containing the torso also failed to bring forth anything.

Schenectady detectives will make a canvass of local stores to-morrow to find if the skirt of the victim, the lace on the skirt or the oilcloth which wrapped the torso was purchased here.

HOUSE EULOGIZES "BIG TIM'S" LIFE

Many Relatives and Friends from New York in Throng That Fills Galleries.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]
Washington, June 21.—In honor of the memory of "Big Tim" Sullivan, a member who never took his seat in the 63d Congress because of illness, the House met in special session to-day and heard eulogies on the life and character of this picturesque figure of New York's East Side.

The galleries were thronged with men and women who had come from New York to honor the memory of Mr. Sullivan. The attendance on the floor was far above the average, and there was a note of genuine sympathy running through the speeches of New Yorkers who had known "Big Tim" during his busy, eventful and unusual life.

In one section of the galleries sat relatives and former associates of "Big Tim." Elsewhere were several hundred representatives of the Downtown Tammany Club and the Timothy D. Sullivan Association. The majority of the large delegation, including official representatives of Tammany Democracy, returned to New York late to-day.

Representative Riordan presided, and eulogies were delivered by Representatives Fitzgerald, Conroy, Goldfogle, Goulden, Ten Eyck, Gittins, Griffin and Loft, of New York. A eulogy by Representative Dale, who could not be present, was read by Mr. Goulden. Representative Calder and others of the New York delegation obtained the privilege of printing their tributes in "The Record." Members from other states also joined in the exercises, among them Representatives Murray, of Massachusetts; Kinkaid and Hamilton, of New Jersey; Kahn, of California; McAndrews, of Illinois, and Barchfield, of Pennsylvania.

SAY SUFFRAGISTS SEEK LIQUOR AID

Antis Undertake to Prove "Dry" Argument a Fallacy.

QUOTE APPEAL MADE TO NEVADA SALOONS

White House Again To Be Stormed by Deputation Seeking President's Aid.

[By Telegram to The Tribune.]
Washington, June 21.—A charge that the suffragists have come out officially with a request for political aid from the liquor interests and promise not to fight that industry is contained in a statement by Miss Lucy J. Price, one of the leading anti-suffrage speakers, given out here to-day through the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. Miss Price, in her signed statement, has this to say: "One of the great arguments of the suffrage speakers is that votes for women mean 'dry' territory. We have contended all along that this was a fallacy. Our contention is borne out by the fact that Mrs. M. S. Bonfield and Mrs. S. G. Lamb, president and secretary, respectively, of the Woman's Equal Franchise Society, Winnemucca, Nev., signed and had published in a newspaper in that town the following amazingly frank reading notice:

"To Whom It May Concern: The impression is prevalent among a number in this community that the members of the Woman's Equal Franchise Society are fighting the liquor interests. Rumors reach us every little while that we are seeking suffrage for the express purpose of closing all saloons. While it is gratifying to the vanity to learn that there are some who fear we can accomplish at one 'fell stroke' what the prohibitionists have vainly attempted for a decade, we feel we must put the subject straight before the public.

"The Woman's Equal Franchise Society is not a political party, nor is it allied with any of the existing parties. We have no quarrel with the existing order of things, saloon or otherwise. We are simply asking for the right to vote, because we think it but justice to have a voice in the government we help to support.

"If we secure this privilege, we are bound by no promise, and will exercise our right according to individual conscience. Some of the men interested in the saloon business here have shown us not only the greatest courtesy, but have helped us in various ways.

"If the persons who circulate these stories will look up the history of states that have given women the ballot, we think they will find they are not any 'drier' than they were before. Utah and Colorado, where women have voted for years, are not prohibition states. San Francisco voted on the liquor question last year, after women were admitted to the polls, and went 'wet' by a large majority.

"We could cite many more examples if we had time and space. All we ask is the truth. Give us a square deal."

The White House will again be stormed by woman suffragists on June 30, making the seventh time that a deputation of women has sought the President's aid for the passage of the Bristow-Mondell amendment.

The President, it is announced, will be reminded of the significance of the recent indorsement of equal suffrage by

PROGRESSIVES PLAN TO RUN H. D. HINMAN

With Roosevelt's Sanction Upstate Moose Will Indorse Him for Governor.

[By Telegram to The Tribune.]

Binghamton, N. Y., June 21.—If the Progressives get the sanction of Colonel Roosevelt, Harvey D. Hinman, although not enrolled as a Progressive, will be the candidate of the party for Governor, being named as an independent Republican.

The plan is for the Progressives to unite on a man who can draw independent Republican and Democratic votes in Broome and adjacent counties. The Democrats are divided, the country vote being opposed to the Tammany organization. The Progressive leaders have assurance that if Hinman is placed on the Progressive ticket he will receive the support of the independent Democrats.

In Tioga, Broome, Chenango and Cortland counties the Republicans have signified a willingness to support Hinman on a Progressive independent ticket in preference to Whitman on the Republican ticket. Under the plan proposed Hinman would retain his party affiliation, while accepting what is practically an indorsement from the Progressives. Burr W. Mosher, county chairman and Bull Moose leader in Broome County, is a strong personal friend of former Senator Hinman.

CANADIAN PRELATE BRINGS POPE'S PRAISE

Cardinal Begin Says Pius Is Highly Pleased with Church's Progress Here.

A congratulatory message from the Pope was delivered yesterday by Cardinal Begin, of Quebec, in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Jean Baptiste, at 76th St. and Lexington av. Cardinal Begin has just returned from Rome. He was accompanied by the Very Rev. Monsignor Lyons, of Wilmington, Del.; the Rev. J. Harmly, Cardinal Begin's secretary, and the Rev. L. Lindsey. They will start for Quebec with him at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Cardinal Begin assisted at two masses in the Church of St. Jean Baptiste yesterday morning. At the first, at 10 o'clock, the sermon was in French; at the second, an hour later, the sermon was in English.

In the afternoon at 5:30 the Holy Name Society of the Church of St. Jean Baptiste gave a reception for Cardinal Begin. It was then that he delivered his message from the Pope. He spoke for thirty minutes, half of the time in English and half of the time in French.

He said that he was authorized to convey the best wishes of the Pope to the American people. The Pope was much pleased, he said, with the advance the Roman Catholic Church had made in America within the last year and sent his congratulations upon the work accomplished.

Addresses were made at the reception by John J. Donohue and Joseph Hogue. The first was in English and the second was in French.

POLICE KILLING STIRS CITY

Philadelphia Aroused by Shooting of Innocent Man.

[By Telegram to The Tribune.]
Philadelphia, June 21.—While attempting to capture two hold-up men at New Market and Brown sts. early this morning, Christian Tullner, a policeman, shot and killed Samuel Styron. Styron was returning to his home and was struck by one of the bullets from Tullner's revolver aimed at the highwaymen. Tullner was held without bail until a further investigation.

The shooting of young Styron, who bore a spotless reputation in this district, caused a storm of protest against the police and their methods of shooting.

SECOND AV. ELITE ROUT FRUIT STAND

'Twas Painted Green, Too, but Tammany Citizens Do Their Duty.

WHY, IT OFFENDED MR. MURPHY HIMSELF

So Laruso Packs Up Bananas and Lemons and Flees Aesthetic Neighborhood.

"Second av., she have d' uplift," said one of Tony Laruso's friends yesterday.

"Eighteenth st., she have d' uplift, too," said another friend. Tony only shrugged his shoulders.

"He no care so very much anyway," explained the first speaker. Tony, however, stays over on First av. now, and there's a reason.

Tony ran athwart Second av.'s civic pride last month, when he opened up a fruit stand at 301 East 18th st. In its owner's eyes it was a most artistic stand. It was painted a wonderful green, just about the shade of the newly painted "L" stations.

When Tony applied for his license he didn't know that James A. Foley, the Tammany Senator, lived at 316 East 18th st., and that Judge Michael F. Blake, of the Municipal Court, another Tammany man, lived at 312 East 18th st. The little green fruit stand was, moreover, right in the shadow of the great, for Charles F. Murphy lives at 306 East 17th st.

Besides this Tammany environment, right across the way on the southeast corner (Tony's stand was on the northeast) is the house in which Thackeray lived when he visited us. On the southwest corner is the big million-dollar Lyng-In Hospital, built by J. Pierpont Morgan, and on the remaining corner is Stuyvesant Hall, an apartment house. Its occupants frowned on Tony's stand.

There was no question that the fruit stand would offend the feelings of those residents who were not Tammany men, just as much as it did those who were. It was United States Marshal Henkel, who lives at 239 East 18th st., whom one would suspect of being a Tammany man, who called, with Senator Foley, on Deputy Commissioner of Licenses Rosenthal and told him how the neighborhood felt.

Mr. Rosenthal was not the only recipient of complaints. The Borough President's office, the Police Department and even the Board of Health heard about Laruso's venture. But it was the Deputy Commissioner of Licenses who saved the day for Second av. and East 18th st. On Saturday he signed the order revoking the license.

Mr. Rosenthal, explaining the situation, said that the license was issued from his office as a matter of course, and that when the complaints from residents came in he decided to hold a hearing. He heard, because Laruso consented to go away. He pulled up stakes more than a week ago, and the people who live in the old Thackeray house and the flat dwellers who tenant Stuyvesant Hall sit at their windows again.

VETERAN IS OUSTED AT SOLDIERS' HOME

Man Who Fought in 27 Battles Says Injustice Was Done—Gov. Fielder to Investigate.

Dropped from the rolls of the Soldiers' Home at Kearny, N. J., by order of the board of managers, after charges had been preferred against him by Acting Commandant Richard Drever, Edward Knox, veteran of twenty-seven Civil War battles, said yesterday that he had Governor Fielder's personal promise to make an investigation and see that justice was done him.

The trouble started two years ago, when charges were preferred against General E. Bird Grubb, who has since died, who was at that time commandant of the home. Knox testified in favor of Grubb and in so doing he says he "got in bad" with Drever. At any rate, a month ago Drever reduced him from his position as ward corporal, alleging that he gave a pass to a man who he knew did not deserve one. Knox then appealed to the board of managers, charging that Drever was not giving him a square deal. The latter made counter charges of insubordination.

When the board met to consider the case Knox says he was neither allowed counsel nor permitted to summon witnesses in his behalf. Knox has instructed his counsel to appeal to the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, and he has also laid the matter before Governor Fielder.

"They told me if I would say nothing about this to the newspapers," he told a reporter for The Tribune, "they would give me an honorable discharge, and when I refused to agree to this I was summarily dropped from the rolls."

WARNING TO VACCINATORS

AND Appeal to the Board of Aldermen

All Compulsory Vaccination Must Be Resisted and Prohibited

The Board of Aldermen is perhaps the closest and truest representative of the People in our City Government to-day and has now at its head a man who is generally recognized as one of the most able, conscientious and popular citizens in our entire city.

And notwithstanding the efforts which have been made for years past to reduce or abrogate the power of this closely representative body in our city government, it is still quite potent in many ways to protect the people from grave and serious wrongs worked by powerful, selfish and interested cliques under the pretence of great public good.

This Board has therefore ample power to now protect the people from one of the most dangerous evils in our body politic to-day, viz., the barbarous evil worked by great medical organizations in forcing dangerous compulsory medical operations and diseases on the people and particularly on little school children, under the pretence of its absolute necessity for public health to prevent smallpox epidemics, but which in fact now causes more disease and death than natural smallpox itself, as I have repeatedly proved from the highest statistical authority in the world.

I have received complaints from all over this city that working people are being coerced into vaccination against their will under the illegal and criminal threat of being discharged from their employment if they refuse to submit to this illegal and criminal intimidation and coercion, and that the great Catholic Clergy of this city and the teachers in charge of Parochial Schools in different parts of the city are also made to believe by health board doctors and nurses that they must submit to the compulsory vaccination of the school children under their charge and that the evil vaccination law, which applies to public schools only (and which medical societies originally forced on the people), also applies equally to parochial and private schools, and that many parents, priests and pupils are being thus deceived by this medical falsehood and coercion.

The Board of Aldermen has now full power, however, under Sections 43 and 44 of the City Charter, to come to the relief of the people and stop this shameful and dangerous medical coercion and deceit by immediately passing an ordinance with the penalty of a heavy fine or imprisonment to this effect, viz.:

That no employee of the city government and no doctor or other person shall attempt to vaccinate any child or adult in this city without first carefully explaining to them that such vaccination is not legally compulsory in any sense and will not be performed on any person unless such person fully and freely consents to the same or has the full consent of parent or guardian.

And all our doctors and other citizens should know that any vaccination done under any other conditions by any force, deceit, coercion or intimidation without full free will and consent, is condemned by the decisions of our highest courts and is illegal and criminal under our laws and will leave the illegal vaccinator, or the city itself, liable to a suit for damages. See also Sections of the Penal Code under the headings of Assault, Conspiracy, and Coercion.

About two years ago application was made by the Board of Health to the Board of Aldermen for a large appropriation of $15,000 for a general vaccination of the people under the pretence of fear of an alleged smallpox epidemic because a few cases of mild smallpox were found in this great city of five millions population; but the Board wisely refused that application and that needless waste of public money on a process of spreading disease and death deliberately in the population, and then the Board wisely held that such operations were not necessary for public health or to prevent smallpox epidemics, but were really injurious to public health on the average and in the long run. Nothing more was heard of any further smallpox scares until this year, when it has been attempted to get up another scare and a general vaccination raid upon the people and our medical pan-mongers have this time succeeded in getting $7,000, about half the sum formerly asked for, not from the Board of Aldermen, but from the Board of Estimate, under a mistaken and misinformed zeal for the public good.

Now, such false smallpox panics and vaccination raids have very little result for public good, particularly in this instance, where the raid and expenditure have been applied chiefly to the children in our Parochial Schools who have been left for years without any compulsory vaccination and who, as statistical facts will show, have been as free from smallpox and all other diseases, if not much freer, than our public school children under constant compulsory vaccination. And the folly of wasting this public money for the barbarous purpose of deliberately diseasing healthy school children by this dangerous operation of vaccination becomes fully apparent when the experience of many past years shows that these school children have been in no appreciable way subject to or affected with smallpox and that they belong in fact to that age-class in the population which is least subject to smallpox, or only about 1/10 as much so as the infant and the adult ages!

That such false medical scares and raids, however, result in great profit to the vaccinating profession and to the vaccine manufacturers and drug trade, in alliance with each other in this matter, can be very easily proved and is even obvious on its face, although our big, pompous doctors and powerful medical societies try very hard to persuade the trusting public to the contrary that these medical interests do not profit by these schemes but that they are quite unselfish about them.

We can, however, easily prove the contrary and condemn these men out of their own mouths and with their own admissions, as follows:—

In a previous article I have said that such raids and panics in exciting and forcing the people to general vaccination simply cause Gold to flow into the coffers of the doctors like Water, and I now ask public attention to the neat confession of this very fact from our Health Commissioner, Dr. Goldwater himself, in the weekly Bulletin of our Board of Health dated May 9th on Page 145. On this page Dr. Goldwater tells us:—

"A careful survey was made to determine the need for vaccination in New York City. * * * As a result of this survey wholesale vaccination has been urged. * * * A number of large business houses and corporations have had or will have their employees vaccinated. Physicians report an unprecedented demand for vaccination on the part of the well-to-do classes who have apparently awakened to the need of self-protection."

From this we can readily see how profitable it is for the doctors and the vaccine makers to thus excite and force the people to resort to general vaccination to give them alleged protection from than any other and which disease which they have perhaps less reason to fear than lightning; and when our big ordinarily kills far less people every year than lightning; and when our big business establishments and our great corporations and also the "well-to-do classes" all show such an "unprecedented demand" for vaccination at one to two dollars or more per arm according to their standing in the "well-to-do" classes!

I also wish to call attention to the brazen way in which some of our big doctors in private practice try to deceive themselves and the public on this very point. No less eminent doctor of this city than Dr. Simon Baruch is quoted by our Commissioner Goldwater in the Health Board Bulletin for May 16th on Page 154 to show the disinterestedness of our doctors in this matter and the alleged folly and error of the honest and fully informed men who are now opposing these false medical panics and raids and condemning all compulsory vaccination as one of the greatest public evils of our day.

Dr. Goldwater on the page of the official Bulletin above referred to has the refreshing simplicity to quote this astonishing piece of medical humbug from our great Dr. Simon Baruch, as follows:—

"How absurd is their claim that the motive operating in favor of vaccinating is to increase the fees of vaccinating doctors may be realized by any unprejudiced person who will calculate that the fees from 200 vaccinations would not equal the fee that one case of smallpox would yield."

Now, Dr. Simon Baruch knew very well when he first uttered this false nonsense in the Evening Sun of May 5th, wherein he tried to discredit our honest work in opposing all compulsory vaccination, that he, as an eminent private practitioner, would make from 200 private vaccinations at least $200 directly, and possibly much more indirectly by services needed to result from these 200 vaccinations with the virus made by the New York Health Board, which is known to be one of the most severe in use. And he also well knew that as a private practitioner for the "well-to-do" classes he could not make one cent on a case of smallpox which, as soon as discovered, he would have to report under penalty of heavy fine and which would then be taken entirely out of his hands to the isolation hospital! Yet this is the kind of brazen humbug and "unselfish" medical "truth" that our Health Commissioners and our eminent doctors give to the people in supporting their dangerous barbarism of widespread compulsory disease, which is really so profitable to them but which nevertheless now kills more children than smallpox and which shocking fact is now concealed in our vital statistics, all fully controlled and dominated by our vaccinating doctors in City and State and by our highly and powerfully organized and capitalized medical societies who have originated and persistently maintained against public will this whole system of compulsory vaccination and who are wholly responsible for it.

I therefore not only now call on our Board of Aldermen directly for relief from this shameful and dangerous medical coercion of the people, as here suggested, but also suggest to all workmen and to all parents of pupils in our parochial and other schools and to the Catholic Clergy and to the teachers having charge of said schools now suffering from this coercion that they should appeal at once to their local Aldermen for action in this matter as herein suggested, and thus put an end to this evil medical barbarism and danger in this city in the near future, pending the entire repeal and prohibition of all compulsory vaccination in every shape and form by the State Legislature.
